DETAILED ACTION

Specification.

1. The abstract is too short. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informality:

In line 2, change "than then remaining section" to read, "than the remaining section".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 3-7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wieser 6,450,745.

Art Unit: 3723

Wieser discloses an apparatus, comprising: an elongated conical cylinder with a narrow apex end and a wide base end (Fig. 1), the interior of the conical cylinder having threads (8) for at least a portion of its length, two or more slits (9) extending from the apex end length-wise along the conical cylinder, and a cylinder rod (10) with an insertion end placed inside the conical cylinder and an opposing handle end extending from the base end of the conical cylinder, the exterior of the rod having threads for at least a portion of its length to match the threads on the interior of the conical cylinder (column 3, lines 36-41); a base engaging portion (6); the base engaging portion is fashioned from a pliable material; the material is plastic (column 2, lines 45 and 46); plastic is non-conducting; the interior of the conical cylinder is of variable diameter (column 3, lines 6-11); and the threads on the exterior of the rod are located on the portion of the rod nearest the handle end (Fig. 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 2, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wieser in view of Brendle 4,086,799.

7. Wieser is described above. Wieser does not specifically disclose a rod having a knob. Brendle discloses an apparatus having a knob so as to facilitate the adjusting of the rod. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have made the handle of Wieser's rod to have a knob so as to facilitate the adjusting of the rod.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 8, 10 and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion
